

PRICE ONE CENT. DON'T PAY MORE.

The Washington Times

NO. 8161. WASHINGTON, WEDNESDAY EVENING, MAY 6, 1914. ONE CENT

GRAVEST ALARM FOR U. S. CONSUL

CALDWELL DEFEATS NATIONALS 4 TO 0 IN LAST OF SERIES HERE

By THOMAS KIRBY.

Taking a leaf from the book of Walter Johnson, Ray Caldwell, choice of New York's pitchers, today brought the Nationals to a stop with a suddenness that was so startling that the home team was beaten by 4 to 0 in the concluding game of the series. The pastime went only seven innings, as it was called at that time in order to allow the visitors to entrain for Boston.

Riotous living during the training term in the South brought upon the head of Caldwell the wrath of his boss, Frank Chance, but a stiff fine and threat of physical violence brought the pitcher to a realization of his mistakes in such a manner that he reformed. He got down to business and has been pitching the best ball of any of the members of the mound corps of the Yankees. There was an impression here that perhaps he lucked out when he beat the Athletics just before coming here, but by his exhibition this afternoon all of the good things that have been said of the reformed twirler were thoroughly justifiable.

GRIFMEN GET THREE HITS.

Exactly three hits were made by the Griffmen during the course of the abbreviated afternoon's entertainment and all of these were obtained after Caldwell had been given a two-run lead over Jim Shaw.

Shaw was not hit hard, still it was his own unsteadiness that brought out his greatest pitching virtues, paradoxical as may seem.

After he had jammed the paths through wading, Shaw would steady down and do really high class work and he received the support that the Nationals have been so famous for, he might have escaped more lucky. In fact, the first inning Shanks and Milan got tangled up in going after a fly which resulted in a two-bagger and suspension of play until the latter could recover from a badly injured leg. This blossomed into a run.

In the second Shaw gave his greatest performance when he choked the lines with a note out and extricated himself without allowing a single run to be made. In the third, down on a change that should have been an out. As it was, it went for a double and it was, in fact, a run into a run. In the sixth the Yanks made their last pair of tallies as a result of a hit, a base on balls, three stolen bases and a triple.

Shaw's Curves Fall to Work. Shaw seemed to have all the speed that he usually possesses, but his curve ball would not work, with the result that he was constantly getting himself into trouble. Five times he frantically batted and then to add to the general confusion contributed an error. Then, again, in the third inning, with a man out on second, he tried to make an impossible play at third, allowing the other runner to reach first and the third baseman directly paved the way to one of the runs.

New York's first run came after Mr. Hildebrand and Grandin had attempted to steal. Hartzell potted a line between Shanks and Milan that both men went after. Just as the ball was about to reach the ball into Milan was thrown straight at him and before Shanks could recover the ball Hildebrand was safe at second.

After Shaw had packed the sacks in the second and then turned back the second without a score, they made one in the third. One error, Hildebrand's, put the ball into the hands of the right fielder who did not judge properly, and when it dropped the runner into the sack, the pitcher was in a position to throw the ball into the sack and the pitcher attempted a play at third which failed by a yard, and the runner was safe. The pitcher walked.

After Shaw had packed the sacks in the second and then turned back the second without a score, they made one in the third. One error, Hildebrand's, put the ball into the hands of the right fielder who did not judge properly, and when it dropped the runner into the sack, the pitcher was in a position to throw the ball into the sack and the pitcher attempted a play at third which failed by a yard, and the runner was safe. The pitcher walked.

COLORADO STRIKERS GIVE UP ARMS

TRINIDAD, Col., May 6.—Colorado coal strikers, encamped on San Rafael Heights, just outside of town, this afternoon told Maj. W. A. Holbrook, of the Twelfth Cavalry, that they would surrender their arms to United States troops. The decision was reached at a mass meeting. Similar meetings of strikers will be held this afternoon at Valdez, Starkville, and Segundo.

LICENSE FOR WILSON WEDDING IS ISSUED

Quietly, and with as much secrecy as the system of obtaining marriage licenses would permit, Irwin H. Hoover, chief usher at the White House, slipped down to the City Hall this afternoon and supervised the making out of the license to be used in the Wilson-McAdoo wedding tomorrow evening.

There was no one present when the White House automobile drove up with Mr. Hoover. He had been in the City Hall only a few minutes, however, when the news of his presence had spread all over the building. Although the Court House was about to close for the day, scores of the employees rushed to the marriage license clerk's office to see the formal issuing of the paper.

Mr. McAdoo's age was given as fifty, a widower, and Washington his place of residence. Miss Wilson's age was given as twenty-four. She is unmarried, and Washington was given as her place of residence.

The Rev. Sylvester W. Benson, of Princeton, who performed the ceremony when Miss Jessie Wilson became Mrs. Francis E. Sayre several months ago, was designated in the license as the minister to serve in a like capacity tomorrow evening.

At Washington, R. H. E. New York 1010320-1 3 9 Washington 1010320-1 3 9 Baltimore 1010320-1 3 9

At Philadelphia, R. H. E. Boston 1010320-1 3 9 Philadelphia 1010320-1 3 9

At Cleveland, R. H. E. St. Louis 1010320-1 3 9 Cincinnati 1010320-1 3 9

At St. Louis, R. H. E. Cincinnati 1010320-1 3 9 St. Louis 1010320-1 3 9

At Chicago, R. H. E. Chicago 1010320-1 3 9

At St. Paul, R. H. E. St. Paul 1010320-1 3 9

At Minneapolis, R. H. E. Minneapolis 1010320-1 3 9

At Detroit, R. H. E. Detroit 1010320-1 3 9

STATE DEPARTMENT IN A FRANTIC EFFORT TO GET NEWS OF SILLIMAN

There whereabouts of Consul Silliman, reported arrested at San Luis Potosi, remained this afternoon one of the deepest puzzles confronting the Administration. The State Department admitted that it was making frantic efforts, through three sources, to find out where Silliman now is.

Reports from Consul Canada, on information given by Paul Davis, a Brooklyn newspaperman, who had been arrested at Saltillo, gave no indication of where Silliman went upon leaving Saltillo.

Davis' story to the consul declared mobs had sacked the Saltillo consulate and had stolen, among other things, the consul's code book.

Secretary Bryan was advised this afternoon that Dr. Ryan, now in custody in Mexico City, will be released one hour before the refugee train leaves the capital for Puerto Mexico tomorrow night.

Bryan maintained his position of complete silence on the mediation plan. His only announcements were that the full Pan-American Union board this afternoon adopted a resolution "approving and applauding" the efforts of the A. B. C. group, and that Zubaran, Carranza's representative, had sent a communication to the State Department, although it did not bear on mediation, he said.

REOPENS REBUTTAL IN COAL ROADS SUIT.

NEW YORK, May 6.—By wired request of Attorney General McReynolds, Frederick Coudert here today reopened the Government rebuttal in the suit against the Philadelphia and Reading, Jersey Central et al. A lawyer in close touch with the Reading and Jersey Central managements today declared that the Reading Company, the Philadelphia and Reading Railway and the Reading Coal and Iron Company will have separate presidents. He indicated that W. R. Taylor was probable as president of the first, Theodore Voorhees of the second, and W. J. Richards as president of the coal and iron company.

SWITCH NATIONAL LEAGUE SCHEDULE.

NEW YORK, May 6.—A switch in the National League schedule, so that Cincinnati will play in St. Louis May 8 instead of June 3, and St. Louis in Cincinnati June 3 instead of September 14, was announced from the league headquarters here today. Open dates in the schedule have been taken for the playing off of postponed games, as follows: At Pittsburgh—St. Louis, June 4; Cincinnati, September 15. At Cincinnati—Chicago, June 24; Chicago, August 31. At Chicago—Pittsburgh, September 14.

RARE SILVER FOR MISS WILSON.

A handsome Sheffield silver serving tray will be the wedding gift of the New Jersey Congressional delegation to Miss Eleanor Wilson. The tray was bought today by Mrs. Scully, wife of the Congressman from the Third district. It is oval in shape, and engraved with rose design. In the center the monogram "E. R. W." will be engraved, while on the reverse will be a line signifying that the tray is the gift of the New Jersey delegation. The cost of the tray amounts to $200.

DIES IN TEN-STORY LEAP.

NEW YORK, May 6.—An unidentified man this afternoon hurled himself from the eleventh floor of the World building down a stair shaft to the second floor. He was instantly killed. The body was terribly crushed.

POND CONFIRMED AS REAR ADMIRAL.

The Senate this afternoon confirmed the nomination of Charles F. Pond to be rear admiral.

MISS GREBLE WINS STAR EVENT OF CARD

The stellar feature upon the best card yet offered by the National Capital Horse Show was won this afternoon by Miss Mildred Greble, daughter of Col. R. St. John Greble, who rode Blue Ridge, from Miss Helen Buchanan's stable, to victory over a field of fifty-four entries in the handicap jumping event.

Miss Greble was called upon to compete with the best cross-country horses of the East. Having made a perfect performance in her first round of the course, she returned for the jump-off and again sent her mount over the hurdles without tipping a bar.

The attendance at today's exhibition exceeded any which has ever patronized a horse show in this city, the throng being made up principally of representatives of the exclusive social circles.

Take Two Firsts. Miss Anne Vandenberg and her sister, Miss Constance Vandenberg, of H. S. Vandenberg, the Philadelphia millionaire, were the most successful exhibitors. Entries from their Broadview stables at Rosemont, Pa., captured the first prize in both the ladies' polo class and tandem event, the principal classes for ladies' horses.

In a competition that brought forth some of the highest priced harness horses in America, Edward B. McLean's unbeaten Lady Ditham was awarded the blue ribbon and cash prize offered for model harness horses shown in hand.

Dr. Cary T. Grayson, physician to President Wilson, won the third prize in the class for horses suitable to become hunters with Strong Boy, Dr. Grayson was not present to witness his mount's success.

Another popular local victory was scored when John O. Green's St. John was given the blue ribbon in the class for stallions suitable to sire army horses. First prize, ribbon, won by Association, Heartland Farm; second prize, ribbon, won by Metaphor, Capt. R. G. Alexander; third prize, ribbon, won by Lord Blackstone, Dr. W. T. Churchman.

Heavy harness horses, over 12 hands—First prize, $50, won by Carmina, W. A. Atkinson, Merchantsville, N. J.; second prize, $25, won by Carmina, W. A. Atkinson, Merchantsville, N. J.; third prize, $10, won by Carmina, W. A. Atkinson, Merchantsville, N. J.

Light harness horses, over 12 hands—First prize, $50, won by Carmina, W. A. Atkinson, Merchantsville, N. J.; second prize, $25, won by Carmina, W. A. Atkinson, Merchantsville, N. J.; third prize, $10, won by Carmina, W. A. Atkinson, Merchantsville, N. J.

Second race—Selling; three-year-olds; mile and a half—First prize, $50, won by Carmina, W. A. Atkinson, Merchantsville, N. J.; second prize, $25, won by Carmina, W. A. Atkinson, Merchantsville, N. J.; third prize, $10, won by Carmina, W. A. Atkinson, Merchantsville, N. J.

Third race—Selling; three-year-olds; mile and a half—First prize, $50, won by Carmina, W. A. Atkinson, Merchantsville, N. J.; second prize, $25, won by Carmina, W. A. Atkinson, Merchantsville, N. J.; third prize, $10, won by Carmina, W. A. Atkinson, Merchantsville, N. J.

Fourth race—Selling; three-year-olds; mile and a half—First prize, $50, won by Carmina, W. A. Atkinson, Merchantsville, N. J.; second prize, $25, won by Carmina, W. A. Atkinson, Merchantsville, N. J.; third prize, $10, won by Carmina, W. A. Atkinson, Merchantsville, N. J.

PROPRIETY OF PAYING WRIGHT DOUBTED AT TIME, SAYS WITNESS

Seeking further light on the $500 payment made to Judge Wright by the United States Savings Bank, the subject of searching inquiry at the morning session, the House impeachment charge investigators this afternoon heard George E. Slabaugh, former cashier of the bank.

Mr. Slabaugh detailed a conversation between Director Baker and President Karrick regarding "the propriety" of paying the amount to Judge Wright for his services in arranging the settlement between the bank and the Bureau of National Literature and Art. The bank's counsel was consulted regarding "the propriety," according to Mr. Slabaugh.

Mr. Slabaugh said that bank directors first talked of letting President Karrick handle the bureau controversy, but that Mr. Baker suggested that he, Karrick, "wasn't diplomatic enough."

REGARDED IT AS "BUSINESS."

"Do you recall any time that Judge Wright advised the bank on legal questions?" asked Congressman McCoy. "I do not. His services seemed to me to be similar to the services of other directors."

"Were his services in the instance we are speaking of the services of a legal adviser or an official of the bank?" "That would be expressing an opinion, but I regarded it as business because his chief assistance was in fixing the amount of this settlement."

"Under the contract made, did the bank occupy a better attitude than the other creditors of the bureau?" "I don't think so."

Mr. Slabaugh said he thought all the creditors got bonds for the amount of their claims, as did the bank. The bank, he said, got bonds for virtually the full amount. He admitted that allowance was made for the collateral and money held by the bank, but said that President Karrick insisted that the bank "hold on to everything for its protection and to take care of the backsides of the bureau."

Mr. McCoy wanted to know why Judge Wright, a lawyer, represented the United States Savings Bank from January 1, 1909 to November 1, 1911, was put on the stand as soon as the committee convened for the afternoon hearing.

"In there a brawl of the bank in regard to what was made to the members of the executive committee?" asked Chairman McCoy. "Yes, that was included, among other things."

"What kind of propriety was discussed, legal propriety?" asked Mr. McCoy, referring to the witness' earlier testimony regarding the services rendered by Judge Wright. "Just propriety that's all. I don't know how else to express it."

Services Covered Wide Range. Attorney Darlington developed that the services of Judge Wright referred to covered his entire range of services in connection with the settlement between the bank and the bankrupt bureau.

Mr. Slabaugh, who was cashier of the United States Savings Bank from January 1, 1909 to November 1, 1911, was put on the stand as soon as the committee convened for the afternoon hearing.

"In there a brawl of the bank in regard to what was made to the members of the executive committee?" asked Chairman McCoy. "Yes, that was included, among other things."